And what is it makes you think I could be of use in this particular case? asked Dr. John Silence, looking across somewhat sceptically at the Swedish lady in the chair facing him. Your sympathetic heart and your knowledge of occultism- Oh, please-that dreadful word! he interrupted, holding up a finger with a gesture of impatience. Well, then, she laughed, your wonderful clairvoyant gift and your trained psychic knowledge of the processes by which a personality may be disintegrated and destroyed-these strange studies you ve been experimenting with all these years- If it s only a case of multiple personality I must really cry off, interrupted the doctor again hastily, a bored expression in his eyes. It s not that; now, please, be serious, for I want your help, she said; and if I choose my words poorly you must be patient with my ignorance. The case I know will interest you, and no one else could deal with it so well. In fact, no ordinary professional man could deal with it at all, for I know of no treatment nor medicine that can restore a lost sense of humour! You begin to interest me with your case, he replied, and made himself comfortable to listen. Mrs. Sivendson drew a sigh of contentment as she watched him go to the tube and heard him tell the servant he was not to be disturbed.
